Aurora Bonus Classes

(For Grandmaster +)

I made this theme with flexible container use in mind. People should be able to mix and match styles!

You can copy/paste the class names from this page.

Almost every aspect is variable based. If you wish to make simple changes, I'd recommend changing the variable values in your CSS. (Swap an attribute value for a different one or redefine the variable itself.) That will change things universally and you'll have fewer changes to make.

You may want or need to round the corners of some containers. Add round-corners to your classes list for the container. See the Usage Notes for an example where I needed to use round-corners to change the bg color of an h2 element.

Rounding Corners Test

Display a Statblock Without it's Box / Background

display-contents-statblock to display a statblock with it's parent container's attributes. See this article for more info.

Can you tell this section below is a statblock?

Theme Tests - Generic Text Block

Did you see that moose? It was more than twice the height of my car!

Extra margin at the top of items

no extra space at the top

no extra space at the top

with extra space at the top

use class marg-top-lg in a container around the item.

Usage Notes

When inputting the container to use these effects

- put the class you want to change (i.e. such as the theme's box class HLBox)
- then the modifying aspects (background color aurora-6t).

The hierarchy of the classes goes from left to right.

For Containers and Sections

It would look like this:

[container: HLBox aurora-1t] YOUR TEXT/STUFF HERE [/container]

For WACode/BBcode Elements

You'll need to surround the element or the contents of the element with a container.

Examples:

At the top of this article there's a light green header that says these classes are for Grandmaster +. This is how I did that.

[h3]
[section: HL aurora-2l black fsize-h2 ]
[section: fas fa-book-spells ] [/section]
        (For Grandmaster +)
[section: fas fa-book-spells ] [/section]
[/section]
[/h3]

Or to add a little space at the top of an H1 tag I did this for the big header 'Classes' just below this box.

[container: marg-top-lg][h1]Classes[/h1][/container]

Notes on WACode/BBcode

The background color classes don't always play nice with some WACode/BBcode elements. For example if I want to color an H2 header with the auora-3t class (kind of a teal semi-transparent color).

Putting the bg color class on the outside of the [h2] does not work.

[container: aurora-3t round-corners][h2]This does not play nice. [/h2][/container]

This does not play nice.

But putting it on the inside does work.

[h2][container: aurora-3t round-corners]This plays nice.[/container][/h2]

This plays nice.

Other Tweaks To Go With The Theme

Invisible space character [ ] <- between the brackets that you can copy from here.

You can use an empty h1 or h2 as a nicely styled [hr].

Examples:

[h2] [/h2]

[h1] [/h1]

Aurora Theme Sampler

Generic article | Feb 25, 2020

This theme is inspired by the Finnish Foxfire legend. (If you watch it, I dare you to not shed a tear or two.)

Fonts

FONT 1: The Finnish word for aurora is 'fox fire'. And the name weaves into the legends about it.

FONT 2: It's said that an arctic fox ran over the tall mountains, causing sparks to form the northern lights.

FONT 3: Or perhaps it's another variation -- that the fox swished snow up into the sky with it's big brush of a tail.

FONT 4: Maybe it's a silenced lightning from a storm not yet grown? Or the fires from spells and the days of old magic?

FONT 5: Science tells us that it's the ions from a solar storm colliding with gases in the atmosphere.

FONT Code: Whatever people have thought it to be, its beauty captivates those who have the pleasure of seeing it.

NOTE

The article title/header has:

Claw: Melee Weapon Attack: +2 to hit, reach 5ft., one target. Hit: 4 (1d4+2) Slashing damage.

Large robotic suit to help Lunarians survive outside their living domes.

Mechanics & Inner Workings

It's a bit of a mystery, since the engineer was insane and used small robots with moon squirrel brains.

Manufacturing process

All work is completed by mini robots. The wires are always a spaghetti mess, but seem to work well. the only failures seem to be PEBKAC related.

Significance

essential as emergency life support, but also commonly used when adventuring outside the city domes or to another city on 'foot'.

CONFLICT - Great Potato War

Everyone sees this note. We launched 1000 potatoes that day.

> We spent the hour before preparing our PVC potato guns
> — Sergeant Slappy

The launching of projectiles only lasted 45 minutes. But the enemy got beemed in the head with more spuds than we did.

The great potato war was the neighborhood skirmish of the century.

The Conflict

Battlefield

Conditions

Outcome

Aftermath

Eternal rivalry.

Historical Significance

Long term taunting on each side.

Theme creator's notes: As I write whatever comes into my head for these article samples, I sense a story brewing...

Lunar Mech Inc. controlls all aspects of life on the moon. Though, not overtly in most cases.

Rumored on Earth to be disbanded. Little does Earth know...

Structure

Headed by CHARACTER - Bobbub the insane inventor that started developing Mech technology

Public Agenda

Provide all Mech and related tech for the Lunarians

Private Agenda (SPOILER)

The highly advanced but secretive moon squirrels found that instead of annihilating the human invaders, the new species could be manipulated into doing all that is needed to do tasks for moon squirrel society. It was simple really. Just gamify it and the humans will be hooked.

Thus this freed the squirrels to play all day minus the 10 minutes of obligatory work to maintain their own clan of humans. The formerly human Lunarians would be outraged if they ever found out. To avoid this, the squirrels utilize the church of the Earth Free is the Way to Be! to cover up their total domination.

Assets

All tech for life on the moon.

History

That's in the secrets. See CHURCH: Earth Free is the Way to Be! and CHARACTER - Bobbub.

Disbandment

Will never happen. The squirrels are cunning little things.

DISBANDED/DISSOLVED

Batten the hatches! Full steam ahead! (which has come to mean 'I don't care how it happens. Get it done even if you have to use moon squirrels to do it!')

Structure

Headed by CHARACTER - Bobbub and his cohort of moon squirrels. Though he's too shy to show up for services, which are thus conducted by robots.

Public Agenda

Encourage gaming productivity from the Lunarians.

Secret Agenda

The squirrels created the church to encourage Lunarians to keep completing the gamified tasks that run moon squirrel society.

Assets

all tech

History

Do you really want to read about this?

Founded when CHARACTER - Bobbub technically died and his mind was replaced with a lab grown squirrel brain.

Mythology & Lore

Found deep in the games for the devout.

Cosmological Views

Be at one with thy holy keyboard, always.

Tenets of Faith

Keep one's holy keyboard clean and in working order for thy gaming tasks.

Ethics

Loyalty to the holy keyboard.

Worship

Communing with one's keyboard and the games one plays via the holy keyboard.

Priesthood

Some Lunarians created a sect that allowed them to have keyboards embedded in their arms. After several Lunarians were lost to CONDITION - Necronanites this sect and the procedure were outlawed.

Granted Divine Powers

When one communes with the holy keyboard, one touches the divine and makes you feel divine yourself. All manner of amazing feats can be done in game.

Political Influence & Intrigue

Dominates the politcal landscape of the Moon, because Lunarians are too busy gaming.
